NEW ROOF

If Growers feels cooler inside this Summer, the reason might be that we have a new roof on part of the building. The surface of the new roof is white, reflecting sunlight, and we added two inches of insulation. We got a loan from ShoreBank Pacific to pay for the roof; the loan is a line of credit, meaning that we can draw out more money later, say for energy-efficient ductless heatpumps that can provide both heating and air conditioning. We are trying to be conservative about the way we spend money. But we did install two new energy-saving windows upstairs.

CRAZY DAVE'S (NOT MIKE'S) GINGER PRODUCTS

Dave would like for us to save for him as many of his current non-deposit bottleage as possible...he also will be, soon, using a new label and putting a deposit on his brews (Dave used to work for Genesis, so we'll see if he puts $.25 on each, or what) the candy will only be occasionally available, but will have no more strings; the chopper is working fine now..."Find Dave's ginger beer cold in the middle cooler, top shelf currently; check for the excellent ginger candy where the chocolate/carob bulk is held."

COMING SOON. PARKING LOT PAVING. Growers will be open during the paving project, sometime in August. We will have a loading zone on Willamette. The actual date has not yet been scheduled.

SAMPLE TURTLE MOUNTAIN PRODUCTS

Turtle Mountain, local makers of Soy Delicious and Purely Decadent products, invite everyone to come out to Alton Baker Park this Sunday, July 26, 10am-4pm, for samples of their products. Other activities, mostly kid-oriented, will be available then too.

NEIGHBORHOODS GREEN HOMES BIKE TOUR

River Road: Saturday, July 25, meeting at 11 AM at Rosetta Park, Evergreen and Benjamin, 3 blocks northwest of River Road and Horn Lane. See www.suburbanpermaculture.org for more on this. The bike tours are being coordinated by the Neighborhood Leaders Council Committee on Sustainability, a committee with members from 12 of Eugene's neighborhood associations. For an updated calendar of the bike tours, their meeting places and more, see www.eugeneneighbors.org/wiki/NLCgreen or contact NLCCoS Green Homes Bike Tour Coordinator Doug Black at 485-6846.

PIERCE STREET GARDENS

Pierce Street Gardens has available raspberries, strawberries, poha, cardoon, herbs, heirloom tomato & pepper plants, some food products in their unforced growing season, trees, shrubs, grasses, annuals & perennials, and more...Forget-me-nots, trilliums. Great prices. Some worktrade may be available. 2008 Pierce Street, everyday.
