DRY GOODS NOTES

roasted, salted cashews have gone up in price after being out of stock for five weeks, but at least we have them. coffee prices did go up and they are posted. royal blueberry 'jam' berries are gone for now, they will be back in late summer. so in frozen fruit land we can get stahlbush sustainably grown berries, and they are oregon grown. look for them over the next 2-3 weeks. that's it for now, sue

COUNTRY FAIR HOURS: ONLY OPEN DAY IS

TUESDAY 5 JULY. thursday hours apply so we will be open that tuesday from 2:30 to 7:30. no pre-order that week. also, there will be no humming bird or united orders coming in the week after the fair. so plan accordingly. thanks for your understanding.

CASHIER NEEDED, FRIDAYS 10am-12pm

Please see any coordinator on duty or come in Friday anytime from 9am-12pm and speak with Nicolette (Nikki) if you are interested. ## GOT A SKILL YOU WANT TO SHARE WITH THE GROWERS' MARKET?

We're trying to create a list of people with special skills that could be useful to the Growers' Market. If you want to earn some pumpkins by using your special skill, please let us know! How? Two ways:

1. Fill out a "Skills" form at the Market. The forms are on the table, along with a box to put the completed form in, behind the boxes with the "pumpkin cards."
2. Send an email to ginny50oc@gmail.com with this information: Name, Contact information (phone and/or email), Skills

Types of skills: Carpentry, sewing, plumbing, calligraphy, electric repair, appliance repair, painting, computer skills, graphic art work, coffee grinder maintenance...any others you have that would be useful to the Growers' Market!

LOCAL ORGANIC CHICKEN EGGS

Kara, Leo, and Myriad will sell eggs from our farm, Heartaculture Farm Community, every Thursday in May from 2:30-5:30, at Growers Market. Price: $4.50 per dozen. ($0.50 of each dozen sold goes to Growers Market.) Our chickens are free-ranging, organically fed (we are not certified), and given feed that is free of corn and soy. People with corn and soy allergies and other health problems have an easier time digesting our farm's eggs compared to eggs from chickens that are fed corn and soy (which is the industry standard, even for organic chickens). You can also visit our farm, see the chickens, and buy eggs at Heartaculture Farm Community, 88470 Fisher Road, Eugene, Oregon. (541) 485-1921.

RENTAL WANTED:

Hello! I am seeking a 1 bedroom apartment/studio/backyard cottage/cabin/yurt in Eugene, (though I would consider something a bit more rural within 5-10 miles of Eugene) to move into around or after June 1st. (I need to give 30 days notice in my current living situation.) I am looking for a home with beauty near to nature (trails/river) and hopefully with some land and a garden. I realize many places for rent go unadvertised and I am looking for one of these secret, word-of-mouth type spots that friends tell friends about. I can pay between $300-$500 hopefully including utilities and maybe with the possibility of work/trade (gardening, childcare, cooking, caretaking, herbal medicine). I would love to live near others with a relaxed community mindset, but have my own space too. I've just started a herbalism program and singing classes (would love to live with those who play music and sing), and I work for myself making jewelry and some PT work for a local company. I can provide personal and housing references and have a great credit herstory. Things I would like in a home: -full kitchen with gas range and full fridge (mini ones don't work well for me) -month to month agreement (I will intend to be there until winter, though quite possibly much longer) -bathtub (or access to one) -wood floors - lots of windows and good natural and unnatural light -quiet -near hills/ trails/ nature (SW Eugene near the ridgeline trail would be great)-open space (enough to dance is great) -good energy - garden space -partially furnished would be a nice option - washer/dryer/clothesline would be awesome. I would also consider living with a woman with similar interests and lifestyles in a setting as described. We would need to talk a lot more about what we are looking for. If sharing a house with someone(s)-- though fewer housemates would be preferred, my intention is to become friends, share meals occasionally, and have a good connection. Please let me know if you have any questions, I'd be happy to tell you anything more about myself. Thanks for reading and considering me! Blessings! ROOMMATE(S) OR ROOM WANTED

Hello reader!

I am looking either for anew roommate or a new room. I just received a 30 day notice from one of my roomies, other expected soon. Rooms are $265/month + utilities. Ample garden space and spacious yard and good neighbors. No pets, sorry. I am a conscious omnivore, mixed media artist, ecologically aware, communicative, open-minded young man. I really like to cook and do quite well (at cooking). Give me a call if you think you might be interested. Gravity
