GROWERS MARKET AT COUNTRY FAIR

It is that time of year again when we are looking for day passers to help out at this years Growers Fruit Booth at the Oregon Country Fair. Have a great time cutting, stocking and serving fresh fruit while bringing funds in for the Growers Market. This is a great opportunity to be a part of the magic that makes the fair come alive. If this is something that you want to be a part of there is a sign up sheet on the right side of the big bulletin board. Please include your name, number, e-mail, time, and day or days you can work. Just remember flakes belong on popcorn and not at the fruit booth. We look forward to working with you. For questions e-mail Jaci at jacimck@hotmail.com

WHO'S WHO AT GROWERS?

Meet Linda Walling who moved to Eugene 13 years ago, stopped by once then got busy with other things in life. Now she has rented an office upstairs and turned it into a beautiful space for families and pregnant women. Once she got her space set up, she decided it was time to be a part of Growers. So I caught her and her household member, Amalia on their first shopping trip. Of their first trip, they say they will remember more of their own containers and bags next time, and are looking forward to bulk ordering from catalogues and getting great discounts on supplements. Linda hails from New York City but moved here from Southern California and has lived all over the place. Linda is a certified Doula and Childbirth Educator. Her business is called Mother Nurture Family Support Center. And by the way, she has an excellent library of books and videos about pregnancy, natural birth and parenting, and really cool posters. I had to check out her office after the interview. About her passion for her work, she says, "Childbirth is a natural and joyful process that often gets disturbed when it is medicalized. I help people have comfortable and even ecstatic births." She does this through providing a safe and potent place to come, by facilitating support groups and classes, with birth and postpartum doula services and by providing pathways to connect to the village it takes to raise a child. In Linda's and Amalia's household, they feed a lot of people, Linda and her partner, the father of their five children, Amalia and her partner (who is Linda's son) and their twin six year old sons. They like Growers' prices, freshness of produce, organics, and they like that we can be self sufficient as a co-op member run business. Linda likes that we do not hire a lot of people to do the work that needs to be done, that we can all share the work load and create community and local happenings/happiness. Linda usually uses the bus system when she comes to shop.

Amalia Coxe-Trieger has lived in Eugene all her life and has known about it for a long time, and has now shopped for the first time. And she came to see Linda's new office. When asked about her passions, Amalia says, "I like life in general. I have two sons who are six. We play together.

Cook together. Plan menus then shop and cook and have friends over." She has a burgeoning passion for gardening.

Linda boasts that Amalia is an excellent dancer and gymnast. Amalia works at Bounce three days a week.

Also at the Reach Center by Sundance Natural Foods. She thinks her favorite treat at Growers would be the chocolate powdered almonds. And she thinks Sunburgers are delicious. Why Growers? Because its convenient to Bounce, And she thinks that as a first timer, it would be easy to shop with kiddos. Welcoming: she likes the wood floors and the play area. It feels slow paced, not just an in and out consumer driven experience. It's nourishing to the soul. She will likely come to shop next time on her long-tailed bike with her kiddos. Thanks for the Interview!

Linda wanted to know if she could one earn pumpkins for reading to children, doing art projects with them, etc while their families shopped/worked. And Amalia asked if there is any further discount for arriving by bike, walking or bus?
