DRY GOODS NOTES

well it is getting interesting again. i ordered some extra united october specials books as they have a large listing of their gmo free offerings, if you want to know the books are on the special orders table, the listing is towards the front of the october books. united has discontinued several items we have carried: a few kettle chips, lemon ginger echinacea juice, angel hair pasta and all mochi. great big sigh. azure has none of those products at this time. azure now carries once again og crunchy peanut butter and it has been out of stock each time i've ordered it these last few weeks, so i'll keep trying. azure is reworking the schedule for one of the two schedules we are on, as that unfolds i'll make the changes on the schedule posted at the special orders table. that is all for now, thanks for being growers, sue
